After each question, you'll see the correct answer. If your answer is wrong, you'll also see an explanation based on the information in the manual. Before you start practicing, it is a good idea to familiarize yourself with the content of the Driver's Manual. Make sure you get the latest version from the Connecticut Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV). Read the manual at least once. The passing score on the knowledge test in Connecticut is 80 percent. This means you must answer at least 20 questions correctly to pass the exam. It's a good idea to aim higher on the practice tests. We recommend that you keep practicing until you can reach a score of 100 percent on each test. You should also make sure you understand questions and the correct answers, don't just memorize them. In general, you need to take the written DMV test: » When you are a first time Connecticut applicant. ...and have never been licensed. » When you have been licensed in this or another state: ...but your driver's license has expired for more than two years. » When you are 16 or 17 years old with a valid license from another state: ...DMV waives the written knowledge test, but you must complete the 8-hour Safe Driving Practices class and the 2-hour parent/legal guardian training. » When you are a new U.S. resident with an out-of-country license: ...and wish to convert to a Connecticut driver's license. The test is normally waived if you have a valid license from Canada, Germany, or France. » When you are a foreign traveler on a visitor's visa and with an out-of-country license: ...and have stayed in this state for one year. The test is normally waived if you have a valid license from Canada, Germany, or France. The written test measures your knowledge of common road signs, traffic signals, Connecticut driving laws, and safe driving techniques. Connecticut has specific laws, such as speeding, driving too fast for conditions, reckless driving, driving under the influence, and others that aim to protect all people on the road whether vehicle drivers, passengers, or pedestrians. Many questions on the permit test address these laws. Make sure you know and fully understand them. Remember, all questions are based on the information in Connecticut Driver's Manual. You must read the manual to be able to pass the test. Don't rely solely on practice tests. The practice tests should be used as a supplement to the manual, not instead of it. Read more: Risky study tactics . Knowledge tests are offered on an appointment basis only. We recommend that you schedule your knowledge test online . Double check that you have all necessary documents. Log at least 5 practice tests with a 100% score before you attempt the real exam. If you fail, you will be required to reschedule online and must repay the exam fee. You can make your new appointment immediately but must wait at least 7 days before you can take the test again. After you successfully pass the knowledge test, you will be able to schedule an appointment for the road test, but you must always hold your permit for a specified period. The time you must hold the learner's permit depends on your age. Knowledge tests for a learner's permit are given in the following languages: Albanian, Arabic, Bosnian, Cambodian, Chinese, English, Farsi, French, German, Greek, Hebrew, Italian, Korean, Lithuanian, Polish, Portuguese, Russian, Somali, Spanish, Turkish and Vietnamese. Please note that not all DMV offices offer testing in all languages. Only English and Spanish are offered at all locations. You should also know that DMV requires two intervals of knowledge testing. One prior to issuing a learner's permit and one prior to issuing the driver license. On the first, you can expect questions about permit restrictions. Read more: About the Test All teenagers under 18 years must follow a step-by-step program to get their first Connecticut Driver License. The steps include: Your first Connecticut learner's permit A restricted license for all 16- and 17-year old drivers An unrestricted Connecticut driver's license The purpose of the Connecticut GDL program is to let young drivers gain driving experience in a safe environment before being eligible for full driving privileges. All new drivers must start with a Connecticut learner's permit. To get the permit all applicants must pass a vision test and the 25-question knowledge exam. The learner's permit allows you to practice driving together with a supervising driver. The supervising driver must be a licensed driving instructor, licensed parent, or another licensed driver who is at least 20 years old and has had license for 4 years and no license suspension in last 4 years. When you practice driving you must always carry the permit with you. You must not have any other passengers than a supervising driver. This restriction does, however, not apply when you are supervised by licensed driver instructor from a commercial driving school or driver education program. Parents or legal guardians can also accompany any instructor. You must hold your permit at least 120 days, if enrolled in a driving school, or 180 days, if home taught. If you are 18 years or older, you must hold the permit for at least 90 days prior to taking a road test. During the permit phase you must complete a classroom instruction course, including a 2-hour course for a parent/legal guardian, and 40 hours of on-the-road training. 40-hour practice driving (behind-the-wheel) may be given by any combination of commercial/secondary/parent instruction. Read more about Driver Training Requirements No driving from 11 pm to 5am, unless for school, job, religious, or medical necessity, or Safe Ride Program No cell phone use, no hands-free cell phone use, no texting, no mobile electronic device use allowed.
